

You are invited!

Resource Center for Nonviolence ANNUAL DINNER & PROGRAM

featuring Gihan Abou Zeid

Egyptian human rights activist, journalist, and an authority on women's rights:

The Power and Promise of Women in Egypt: Rights, Roles, Revolution and Nonviolence

Sunday, October 20, 2013

At: First Congregational Church, 900 High St., Santa Cruz, CA

6:00p.m. Dinner: Gourmet Egyptian Vegetarian cuisine

7:00p.m. Program

RESERVATIONS:

Dinner and Program: $35-100 per person suggested sliding scale.

Program Only: $7-25 sliding scale.

Scholarship Donation- if you can't join us: any amount to help youth or others attend.

Table Host, $500 - $1000 sliding scale-
Reserved seating for a table of 8;

Organizational Host, Reserved seating for a table of 8: $300 - $500;

Sponsor, Reserved seating for 4 people, $200 - $300.

Supporter (2) Reserved seating for 2 people, $100-200; Supporter (1)- Reserved seating for one person, $60-100

Please RSVP for the Dinner by October 14 and note on your check that your donation is for the Annual Dinner.

Egyptian human rights activist, journalist and author GIHAN ABOU ZEID is an authority on women's rights in the Arab world.
She was part of the revolution of 2011 that brought millions of people to Tahrir Square. Gihan is the managing editor for the magazine Politics and Religion and writes for the Qatari newspaper Al Arab. She is developing a regional strategy for the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) on cooperation between UN agencies and faith-based organizations. Gihan served 9 years as vice president of the NGO's Forum for Women in Development, and was a policy adviser for the Ministry of Family and Population in Egypt.

Reservations and more information: 831.423.1626, rcnvinfo@gmail.com, www.rcnv.org

Resource Center for Nonviolence, 612 Ocean St., Santa Cruz, CA 95060 Hours: M-TH 12-4